

The funny Dutchman:

Being on the way to interview some teachers (interview is following!) we meet an elderly gentleman. He tells us that he lives here in Kerkrade and asked us for the reason why so many students are staying in the congress center. He went for a walk with his little dog and we saw them round the center.

Obviously, we didn't ask him, he tells us in detail his thoughts about current political problems and the mistakes that the Dutch politicians are doing. Ending his little speech, he smiled satisfied.

What he thinks about youth commitment in politics? : "It's important that there are young people who are able to form their own opinion!"
